PETERS - MARCONI

Miss Carmelina Mary Marconi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincenzo Marconi, 33 Park st., Lawrence, became the bride of John Joseph Peters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Peters of Boston rd., at an 11 o'clock nuptial Mass, June 16, in the Holy Rosary church, Lawrence. Rev. Lorenzo Andolfi officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ice blue dupioni silk and Chantilly lace gown with fitted bodice and bouffant skirt ending in a cathedral train. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was attached to a Pagoda bonnet of Chantilly lace sprinkled with rhinestones and pearls and she carried a prayer book marked with an orchid.

The bridal attendants included Miss Sera Antonilli of Methuen, as maid of honor; Miss Carol Peters of Andover, Mrs. Patricia Marconi and Miss Lillian Santoro, both of Lawrence, as bridesmaids. All wore blue crystalline gowns with matching braided headpieces and carried red roses. Philip Peters of Long Island, N.Y. served as best man and the ushers were Clifford Peters of Long Island, N.Y., William Peters of Andover and Vincent James Marconi of Lawrence.

A reception in the Stoppy Post hall, Lawrence, followed the ceremony with many out of town guests attending.

Bloodmobile Will Come Here July 20

A new Bloodmobile committee of the Andover Red Cross chapter met this week to organize under the chairmanship of Robert S. Zollner. The next visit of the Bloodmobile is scheduled for July 20 at the South church.

Plan Board OK's Once-Denied Plans

The planning board has signed plans for house lots as not requiring approval - after first calling them sub-divisions.

Involved is the land owned by the Bolten interests and lots along Lowell st. owned by George Winslow.

The planning board, meeting June 13, accepted slight revisions in the plans. In each case, the plan formerly showed lots along the accepted streets, with an area left vacant for access to back land. The board said that was a sub-division because it showed access. Now, the plans leave the back line off one lot, thus leaving that lot open rather than just allowing a narrower strip of land for a road.

The Bolten plans were for Greenwood rd., John and Katherine Bolten; Wild Rose farm along Lovejoy rd., Lowell st. and Argilla rd., Marion Trust and D. and G. Real Estate trust; Haggetts pond rd., near Bailey rd., John Bolten Jr.; and the Winslow lots were along Greenwood rd. near his residence.

Some time ago, John Bolten Jr. and his attorney, Richard Simners, vigorously protested a planning board ruling that the plans were a sub-division. The plans had at first been stamped as not needing approval; then the board reversed itself.

VICKERS RECEIVES NATIONAL SCHOLARSHIP

Mrs. Ernest C. Edmonds, 88 Carmel rd., has returned from Washington state where she spent two months. While there she visited relatives in Centralia, and the family of Mr. and Mrs. David Allen of Seattle. Mrs. Allen before her marriage was Jean McLeish of Andover.

Rev. Mr. Reynolds Attends Council

Rev. and Mrs. Levering Reynolds Jr., of the Free Christian church and Mrs. Robert B. Hutton of the South church are Andover's representatives at the General Council of the Congregational Christian Churches now holding its biennial session at Omaha, Neb. Rev. Mr. Reynolds writes that the Council took an official vote approving the union of denomination with the Evangelical and Reformed church following negotiations which have lasted more than a decade. It is expected that the convening synod which will bring the two denominations, to be called the United Church of Christ, into being will be held in June, 1957.

The Andover minister writes that the final vote came as the culmination of a series of tense, exciting business sessions. On the night before the final vote, the Council remained in session all night without recess to hear read the entire minutes of the Executive Committee of the Council for all the meetings during the past biennium. He reports that in addition to the business of union of denominations, there have been a number of presentations by the various Congregational departments and societies. Fifteen hundred delegates from churches all over the United States are in attendance.

It's A Tough Life

A politician's life is a tough one.

When his actions coincide with a citizen's own belief, he's a good fellow. To others, who don't agree, he's no good at all. Either way, he takes it on the chin from someone. Obviously, he can't be all things to all men, so the politician expects to incur the displeasure of some voters during his term of office — and just hopes that the majority are fairly well pleased with his actions.

That's a normal situation in politics. But when a politician finds himself in the middle for something he didn't do — that's really tough, for he is blamed by all sides, depending on their outlook. Either way, he can't win.

Such a situation confronts the three representatives from this district — Frank S. Giles Jr., William Longworth and Thomas Slack.

They are being blamed by both the proponents and opponents of town manager. Either way, they stand to suffer at the polls unless the voters stop to realize that the three men are in the middle of a situation over which they have no control.

It's no secret that opponents of the manager plan are angry because the representatives didn't block the bill in the Legislature. Proponents, on the other hand, have been displeased because they thought action was slow in forthcoming. Some even thought the representatives were actually blocking the measure, although that argument now is invalid because the bill is admitted for consideration.

Rep. Giles told the Legislative committee and some 300 townspeople, at the manager hearing last week, that he and his colleagues have no desire to mix into internal town problems. They want no part of the struggle between manager forces and those opposed.

We can't blame them for wanting to keep out of the middle — we probably would be the first to complain if they did start to meddle with what is a town problem.

Actually, the three men filed the bill at the request of the town meeting, through its official committee. Now the bill is in committee and a decision can be expected very shortly. All three men want to keep hands off that decision and that is as it should be.

All this leads up to the belief that no one here should base their vote for representative on the town manager controversy. For in this case, all three were the victims of a situation well beyond their control.

Having made that point clear, we want to state our position as lucidly as possible regarding the primaries this fall.

We believe that one Andover representative should be sitting in the House. The old balance — one from Andover, two from Methuen — should be recaptured. The only way to do that is to have one Andover candidate in the primary, not two or three as now appears probable. We are not advocating the defeat of anyone, but merely stating our belief that the district should have an Andover Representative.

Paolino Writes On Boys' State

Raymond Paolino, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Paolino, Lovejoy rd., Punchard High school junior and one of two boys representing Andover Post 8, American Legion at Boys' State writes interestingly of his experiences during the week's activities at the University of Massachusetts. Also attending is James Winters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald J. Winters, 9 Fletcher st., another Punchard junior. In a letter to the TOWNSMAN editor, Raymond writes as follows:

"Dear Sir:

"I am one of the boys picked to represent Andover's Legion post at Boys' State. Boys' State has an excellent program. The main purpose is to acquaint the citizen, as all the boys are called, with his local, county and state governments. This is done by his actual participation. There are eight towns and four cities in Boys' State. Since I come from a town, I was put in the town of Anzio.

"Boys' State is also separated into two parties, the Nationalists and the Federalists. I am a Federalist, my roommate a Nationalist. We have held the first sessions of our party conventions, the purpose of which is to nominate candidates for state office. We have just elected our town officials. From what little I have told you, you can see that Boys' State believes that the best way to learn about Democracy is to practice it, and believe me, all the boys here are getting plenty of practice. Aside from the serious side of our program, there is an excellent recreation program and the food is great."

Yours truly,
Raymond Paolino

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago — June 1906

A grand celebration marks the Fourth of July. A horribles parade, sports, band concert and fireworks will honor the anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. The horribles parade was threatened by a heavy downpour, but the deluge stopped just before starting time on Park st. Marshal John A. Morrill led the parade.

T. J. Farmer retired last week after 20 years in business in the town.

Prizes were given out during last week to children in the intermediate grades for the greatest improvement in handwriting.

Among recent gifts to Phillips academy is one of special importance. Given by Mrs. R. A. Carter, who is well known here, the sum of $1500 was set aside for scholarships to assist any boy who has to work his way through school. The gift was announced by Principal Stearns at the annual Alumni dinner.

The Woman's club of Andover Grange will hold a meeting July 13, in the afternoon and evening, in the form of a lawn party at Miss Charlotte Hill's home on Haverhill st. in Frye village.

The pulpit of the South church will be filled Sunday morning by the Rev. A. H. Fuller of Ballardvale.

Corwin F. Palmer, superintendent of schools, sailed today aboard the steamer Parisian for a tour of Scotland and England. He will spend two months there, arriving back in Andover in time for the new school year.

Miss Katherine C. Moynihan left on the S.S. Arabic Thursday for a 45-day tour of Europe which she won in a newspaper contest. The trip will take her to most of the large cities on the Continent and England.

25 Years Ago — June 1931

Six books belonging to the library and two belonging to Phillips academy have been recovered from Boston police by Miss Edna Brown, librarian. The books are alleged to have been taken by a New York doctor who now is in Worcester County jail awaiting grand jury action on a similar charge levied by the library in Clinton. Revere police made the arrest.

Edward Rondeau, captain of last year's football, is credited with saving the life of a South Lawrence boy at Hussey's pond last Tuesday. The youngster cut an artery in the arch of his right foot which might have proved fatal, but Rondeau bandaged the foot skillfully.

Officers won't be quite so uncomfortable in Andover square this summer. Motorcycle officer David Gillespie and Billie Brown, town hall janitor, have built a traffic box for the square. Over it will be an umbrella sufficiently large to protect the officers from the sun. In addition, the officers expect to have a better view of all streets coming into the square so that the heavy traffic can better be handled.

The huge Fourth of July celebration in Ballardvale, starting with a 50-foot bonfire at midnight, is expected to attract throngs here. The affair will go on for some 22 hours, with athletic competitions, parades and a band concert scheduled.

The assessors have awarded the contract to paint the South church to Edward M. Seabury of Wakefield.

Construction has begun on the Main st. highway, from Reading to Andover. Four giant steam shovels have been at work this week along the four-mile stretch of road connecting the two towns.

William T. Tilden II gave an interesting tennis exhibition in Shawsheen yesterday afternoon. He beat two opponents, but lost out when he tried to single-handedly beat them in a doubles match.

Many members of the Garden club were guests of the No. Andover club last Wednesday afternoon.

10 Years Ago — June 1946

The opening of Andover's summer school for veterans finally went off smoothly, although a last-minute hitch almost halted the project. Scheduled for June 24, the school was notified that state funds would not be available until July 1 — and by that time most of the 45 veterans enrolled had made other plans for the latter part of August when the school normally would have been over. The Service Men's fund came to the rescue and gave the men a chance to start in June, thus preserving the latter part of August for other planned activities.

An unknown fire enthusiast torched Ballardvale's Fourth of July bonfire Sunday night, long before its time to burn. All available apparatus responded to an alarm but little was left to furnish the traditional fire for midnight, July 3. It is hoped that the committee can get some materials together in such short notice and rebuild the huge pile. Other July 4 plans include a ball game, band concert and steak dinner for all returned veterans — no speeches, just a meal and a chance to get re-acquainted.

Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers has announced a competitive examination for Annapolis to be held July 24.

The AMVETS have voted to postpone electing officers until the first meeting in September. Members felt it would be easier to elect officers then, after some members had decided whether they would stay in town or enroll in college.

Pomp's pond has opened for the season, with official hours from 11-8 p.m., when lifeguards will be on hand for everyone's protection.

Village Improvement Society Maps Plans

Several special projects to beautify the town and to improve recreational facilities have been mapped out by the Andover Village Improvement Society for the present year.

At Pump's pond, the Society will provide two fireplaces and four tables with benches. This equipment will be used with the consent of the Recreational committee of the town. The Improvement Society voted a sum of money not to exceed $500 for purchase of the equipment.

The Pump's Pond committee, a subcommittee of the Planning committee, consists of Donald D. Dunn, chairman, and Mrs. John C. Brown.

The second project is being developed at the Indian Ridge Reservation. This is designed as a camping site for the Boy Scouts of the town. The committee is enthusiastic over its possibilities as a recreational spot. The area will need some clearing, the Society reports, but the committee is confident this will be accomplished by the scouts.

Donald Dunn and Mrs. Kellogg, in cooperation with L. Fraser Colpitts were empowered by the trustees of the Society to draw up a set of rules and regulations which will adequately protect the grounds.

The Indian Ridge Reservation is located only a few minutes from the Center of Andover, between Reservation rd. and Red Spring rd. The tract of land covers about 25 acres of attractive woodland, with paths or trails to follow over the rolling landscape.

The Society's Indian Ridge committee is made up of Mrs. Waters Kellogg, chairman, Miss Bessie Goldsmith and Miss Mary Angus.

In the town park, the Society will take care of the pruning of the trees and shrubs. This work will be done with the consent and cooperation of the Board of Public Works.

Another project concerns the bank opposite the Andover railroad station. The committee in charge of this feature feels that the project needs immediate attention because it is unsightly. However, it was pointed out, nothing effective can be done until the flow of water from the street above can be diverted. Each rainfall causes soil erosion and other difficulties. The Board of Public Works is studying the matter of water control in that area. The railroad station committee is comprised of Miss May Bartlett, chairman, Fred Cheever and Heinrich Rohrbach.

The members of the Society's planning committee in general charge of the outlined projects consists of Mrs. Alfred L. Castle, chairman; Mrs. Herbert Farnsworth, Mrs. Waters Kellogg, Heinrich Rohrbach and Mrs. Ernest Wilkinson.

Upton Family Lost Scalps To Indians Despite Fortress Home

Courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Grant

By Kay Noyes

The legends and lore centered around this fine old salt box type house are ones of fiery and violent havoc wrought by the Indian warriors of many years ago. The tranquil setting of today greatly belies the fact that one of Andover's most bloody attacks occurred at the Abiel Upton House on Osgood st. in the late 1600's or early 1700's.

Home And Fort

This sturdy farmhouse was built in 1699 by Thomas Blanchard, son of Samuel Blanchard who owned extensive property in the West Parish known as "Blanchard Plains". In the process of building his home, Thomas was compelled to erect it to serve a two-fold purpose — that of comfort for his growing family and as a fortress for his family against marauding Indians.

Brick Barrier

It was originally built in three sections. The first to be constructed was the west side which was heavily barricaded to provide a place of safety, followed by the east side which was needed by the growing family and the last section to be erected was the salt box and wood shed. As a defense against Indian bowmen and their arrows, the front portion of the house had a brick barrier encased between the inner and outer wall. The comfortable inside was heated by two massive open-hearth fireplaces 10 feet wide which, when stocked with dry logs, provided great warmth in the severe winters. The original upstairs bedroom is unique in that it is probably the only completely pine-sheathed room in existence in this area.

The original builder was a cordwainer and the property remained in the Blanchard family for three generations until finally it was sold to Abiel Upton in 1792. Both Blanchard and Upton were shoemakers and traces of their trade utensils were uncovered at the property years ago during minor alterations.

Uptons Lost Scalps

It was during the occupancy of Abiel Upton that the tranquil farmhouse became the scene of a bloody attack by a band of marauding savages. These fiercely painted Indian braves with their gaudy headdresses flying in the wind swept down on the Upton house and circled it giving off hideous and blood chilling war-whoops before dragging the terrified Upton family into the field where they were unmercifully set upon and scalped — so goes the legend of the early Abiel Upton House.

The narrow dirt path in front of the house was at one time a heavily traveled thoroughfare leading from Andover to Tewksbury and was known as the "Old County Road".

This classic example of salt box type house has been altered only slightly in the past years and its lines and architectural quality have been preserved through careful maintenance while the restoration that has been done has closely followed the original design of this early American home.

This house is now owned and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Glen Grant, whose love of early homes has done much towards keeping the authenticity of the Upton House as it was some two and one half centuries ago.

EQUIPMENT FAILURE DROPS WATER LEVEL

Examination of the equipment showed that a check float valve which activates the flow of water into the high level system had become stuck. This was repaired and everything was back to normal.

Although the level of the high pressure system had fallen, residents were unaware of the fact and no complaints were received by the BPW office.

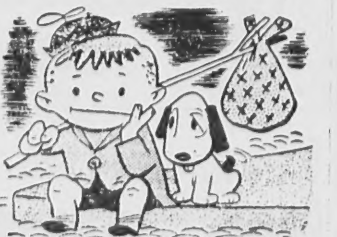

Engineer Preble explained that a restaurant which uses considerable water in automatic dish washing machines was closed on Monday. This establishment would have been the first affected by the lowering of pressure. Conditions were back to normal when the restaurant opened on Tuesday.

On Monday evening, June 4, the Board of Public Works voted to call for bids for the installation of about 390 feet of sewer extension on Sutherland st. At Monday evening's meeting when the proposals were opened, there were no bids. One communication pointed out that there was insufficient money to do the job according to specifications. Under article 47 of the town warrant, the sum of $2600 was appropriated with additional funds to come from betterment assessments.

It was voted to call for new bids and to revise the plans so as to eliminate the requirements for some shoring which will result in a saving.

Recreational Areas Attract Thousands

Andover's recreational facilities, playgrounds and bathing beach opened officially this week and were thronged from the outset as ideal summer weather prevailed. Pump's pond waterfront and picnic areas opened on Monday, while registrations took place at the several playgrounds on Monday.

A total of 530 signed up at the playgrounds on the first day. This figure is expected to be much larger as additional names are added during the week. The playground leaders lost no time in making arrangements for special features to be held during the opening week.

George Snyder, supervisor of the playgrounds, reported the following figures for the first day, together with the week's special event: Central, 219; parade on wheels Friday at 10:30 a.m., Ballardvale, 110, hat show Friday at 10:30 a.m., Shawsheen, 86, doll and hobby show Thursday at 10:30 a.m., Indian Ridge, 79, hobby show Thursday at 11 a.m., North District, 36, costume show Friday at 3:30 p.m.

There are no age limits at the playgrounds, but there is a regulation that children of pre-school age must be accompanied by an adult or a responsible older person.

The opening day crowd on Sunday at Pump's pond numbered more than 1000 children and adults. The average daily attendance has been about 800. Up to mid-week, a total of 694 had registered at the town's bathing beach. Swimming lessons will get underway next week according to a schedule now being arranged.

Donald D. Dunn is director of the bathing beach and is assisted by head life guard Ralph Arabian, Thomas Lawlor, Robert Wiss, Fred Polgreen, Jack Wright and Glen Williams. Mrs. Florence McGrath is matron for the season.

SPONTANEOUS COMBUSTION WAS CAUSE OF FIRE

An official of the state fire marshal's office was called here last Friday to probe a minor fire of unknown origin which occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis W. Kiernan, West Knoll rd., shortly after midnight Thursday. The fire was in the cellar and occurred in a cardboard container. It was doused by Mrs. Kiernan with a bucket of water before fire fighters arrived. Det. Lt. Joseph E. Driscoll of the fire marshal's office said the fire started from spontaneous combustion in some unknown material.

FOURTH OF JULY OBSERVANCE

program. The celebration will get underway at 7 p.m. Monday, July 2, with a colorful parade of fire trucks, many of them from other communities.

The parade will form around the Sacred Heart school in Shawsheen Village. As many as 30 departments, including all of Greater Lawrence, Essex County and parts of Middlesex county, have been invited to participate. To stimulate interest, prizes will be awarded in a number of classes. There will be a prize of $30 for the truck carrying the most uniformed fire fighters; $10 for the newest piece of apparatus; $10 for the oldest piece; and $10 for the truck coming the longest distance.

Leaving Shawsheen square, the parade will proceed up Main st. to Central st., to School to Main to Elm to Summer to Whittier and to the playstead where the firemen's carnival will be officially opened.

The carnival, with a variety of rides, a midway, refreshment stands and everything else which will contribute to the enjoyment of all will be in progress until about midnight on Monday. The entire high school athletic field will be turned into a play area for the occasion.

Continuing on Tuesday, the day will be climaxed by the traditional Fourth of July bonfire which will be torched off at midnight and will glow into the early morning hours of Wednesday to welcome the great national holiday.

As the three day celebration nears an end on Wednesday, it will be marked by a fine display of fireworks which will open about 11:30 p.m.

To stress the safety feature of the stay-at-home observance of Fourth of July, a grim automobile wreck is to be set up in front of the Town House on Main street by police and fire officials. It will bear a warning "Don't Let This Happen to You," and will serve to remind all of the hazards of holiday travel.

Fire Fighter William Ross, a member of the Relief Association's ways and means committee, is chairman of the three-day program, while President James W. Deyermund of the Association is in overall charge of the undertaking.

Persons of all ages and from all sections of the community are expected to join in the firemen's program which will be the only local formal observance of the Fourth of July.

This year's fireworks display is expected to be one of the finest ever presented. In addition to the appropriation made by the Relief Association, the merchants of Andover have made substantial contributions which will allow for a much finer display than had been expected.
